More than 70 years after the Holocaust, religious hatred, racism and genocide still threaten our world. Your students are the last generation who can hear rich first-hand experiences from Holocaust Survivors. Their life stories transcend the decades and teach us about the need to be responsible citizens who help create a more just, accepting and diverse society. Take advantage of this important opportunity during the annual Youth Symposium on the Holocaust hosted by the Jewish Federation of Greater Philadelphia's Jewish Community Relations Council.

PROGRAM

- Introductory session with film
- Small group dialogue with Holocaust Survivors
- Dynamic keynote presentations

Program Fee: $4 per person (students and teachers; includes lunch)

We have received a special grant to cover registration and transportation costs for public school participants. Please contact us if you would like to have your costs covered by this grant.

LOCATIONS

The Symposium programs are open to all students in Greater Philadelphia in grades 9 through 12 and are offered from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at these three locations:

- TUESDAY, MARCH 13, 2018
St. Joseph's University, Philadelphia, PA
- THURSDAY, MARCH 15, 2018
West Chester University, West Chester, PA
- TUESDAY, MARCH 20 & THURSDAY, MARCH 22, 2018
Gratz College, Melrose Park, PA

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT FOR TEACHERS

This special session includes training with the "Echoes and Reflections" curriculum. All new teachers receive a free copy of the curriculum, which includes valuable information to help educators teach the complex issues of the Holocaust to today's students.
